What I Learned at The ACC

I learned how to program in C#, learned how to create Windows .EXE applications, ASP.NET applications, Command Line applications, and Windows Services applications. I also learned how to create and maintain databases.

My Advice to The ACC

Listen to your teachers, and take everything they say to heart. They are there to help you and will do everything they can to make sure you are ready and prepared for the real world. Everything in the ACC is geared towards real life applications. It's very easy to take the class and run with the knowledge you gain.
